Entry list

The entry list function can found under Competitions/Print.../Entry List. It provides you with the possibility to quickly print entry lists with competition conditions and any number of available entries. The entry slots for players are printed in a table. The players use this list to sign up for the announced competition:

At the top of the mask you can see the automatic text which can be deactivated if not required. In the lower section you can enter an individual text. More info to this subject can be read in the chapter "Condition text" under Competitions/New, edit, delete. A previous created text for the competition conditions can easily be used for the entry list by simply clicking on Load from...Conditions.

- Please note that when defining a list with two columns you will have to enter 40 characters including the two vertical bars at the end. If you want to define a list with one column you can enter 80 characters. The exact position of your cursor is indicated above the input box.
- With Numerical you can either select "from top to bottom" or "side by side". An example of a list with a numbering from top to bottom is the last illustration. For the first list a side by side numbering was used. Of course this option is only available for list formats with two columns.
- In the field Number of entry fields you define the number of players that can fit on this list. The number is freely definable.

• If you do not need an individual format, you can use the option Print with registered players. This allows you to type in the players before the closing date and print out an entry list that includes all entered players which will be sorted be PC CADDIE in alphabetical order.

Particularities

Scramble

Often, players will want to play together, with priorities marked, or they will have team numbers from an online 4 player registration. As it is not possible to print recorded players with an individual layout, it would be an idea to print a list with the recorded players and the entry list via the Team rating, which is still open for further registrations.

But this works only for team numbers, so it has advantages with additional manual labeling only if the team numbers are used, and not the priorities (letters)!
